

Jeri L. Cassel

Jeri serves as the Program and Technical Support Analyst for the Organizational and Leadership Development Office at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's (NASA) Marshall Space Flight Center in the Office of Human Capital. She serves as the program analyst for such projects as Leadership Succession Planning, New Employee Orientation, Change Management, and Supervisory Development. She is new to NASA and Marshall Space Flight Center, joining the team in December of 2007.

Jeri is a graduate of Northwest-Shoals Community College where she received an Associate in Art degree. After graduating from Northwest-Shoals, Jeri went on to earn a Bachelor of Science from The University of North Alabama in Florence, AL, majoring in Psychology. She also earned a Master of Art in Applied Experimental Psychology with a concentration in Industrial/Organizational Psychology from The University of Alabama at Huntsville, Huntsville, AL.

Jeri's experience prior to coming to Marshall Space Flight Center is the product of a diverse background with over eight years of experience in management/supervisory positions, sales, and human resources with three different Fortune 500 companies. In addition, she has worked closely with the faculty of The University of Alabama in Huntsville on various research projects involving work groups and teams.

Jeri is a native of north Alabama whom, in here spare time, enjoys snow skiing, weight training, and tennis.